4                   I.

5                   INTRODUCTION

6                   The Defendants' "Motion to Dismiss Plaintiff's Complaint, or, in the Alternative,
7                   Motion for More Definite Statement" states that the Court should dismiss the Plaintiff's
8                   complaint on the following grounds: "(1) The Court lacks jurisdiction over Apollo since they 9                   were never properly served in this matter; (2) The Complaint fails to state any claims upon
10                   which relief may be granted; (3) The Complaint fails to set forth a short and plain statement of 11                   the claim showing that the plaintiff is entitled to relief; and (4) The Complaint is so vague and 12                   ambiguous so as to require plaintiff to provide a more definite statement." The Plaintiff was 13                   forced to attain a copy of the Defendants' Motion to Dismiss by printing his own copy at the 14                   Clerk's office (please see Exhibit A, "Notice of "Motion to Dismiss Plaintiff's Complaint, or 15                   in the Alternative, Motion for More Definite Statement and Motion to Set Aside Entry of 16                   Default" and Exhibit B, "University of Phoenix, Inc.'s Memorandum of Points and Authorities
17                   in Support of Motion to Dismiss Plaintiff's Complaint, or in the Alternative, Motion for More 18                   Definite Statement".)

19                   II.

20                   THE COURT DOES NOT LACK JURISDICTION OVER THE UNIVERSITY OF 21                   PHOENIX SINCE IT WAS PROPERLY SERVED IN ACCORDANCE TO THE
22                   FEDERAL RULES OF CIVIL PROCEDURE

23                   The defendant was served at its San Diego office by professional certified service processor 24                   Mr. R. T. Hansell. The Defendant was properly served, henceforth is subject to the

1 jurisdiction of the Court. The University of Phoenix, Inc. did in fact receive proper service as 2 can be evidenced by Exhibit C (Please see Exhibit C, entitled "Declaration of R. T. Hansell in 3 Support of Plaintiff's Motion for Default Judgment".

4 III.

5 THE COMPLAINT DOES STATE CLAIMS UPON WHICH RELIEF MAY BE
6 GRANTED

7 The Complaint does state claims upon which relief may be granted, and are enumerated as 8 seven causes of action listed on page 16 to page 17, in the section entitled "Legal Claims" of 9 the Plaintiff's Original Complaint.

10

12 IV.

13 THE COMPLAINT DOES SET FORTH A SHORT AND PLAIN STATEMENT OF 14 EACH CLAIM SHOWING THAT THE PLAINTIFF IS ENTITLED TO RELIEF

15 The Complaint does set forth a short and plain statement of each claim showing that the 16 Plaintiff is entitled to relief. The defendants' showing of malice is demonstrated by the 17 manner in which the employee was fired (Please see pages 10-16, Statement of facts 19-42, of 18 the Plaintiff's "Original Complaint", filed with the Court on the 19th of December, 2007.

19

20 THE COMPLAINT IS NOT VAGUE, AND A MORE DEFINITE STATEMENT IS 21 NOT NEEDED

22 The Complaint is not vague, and a more definite statement is not needed. The Original 23 Complaint should be comprehensible to any reasonable person as it describes in detail the 24

1 Plaintiff's complaint with the Defendants. This is effectively and comprehensibly
2 communicated in the Plaintiff's Original Complaint, pages 2 through 18, and is listed as the 3 following sections: Statement of the Case; Jurisdiction; Venue; Timeliness of Petition; Parties;
4 Statement of Facts; Legal Claims; Conclusion; and Relief Requested

INTRODUCTION

3 In plaintiff Chad McKinney’s (“McKinney”) third round of entries of default 4 obtained through insufficient notice and improper service, McKinney now claims to 5 have provided service of process to the University of Phoenix, Inc. (“UOP”)
6 separately from Apollo Group, Inc. (“Apollo”) in support of his claim for another
7 quarter of a million dollars in “punitive damages.” Yet, McKinney did not file his 8 entry of default against UOP until several weeks after Apollo pointed out
9 McKinney’s service errors in its Motion to Dismiss and Motion to Set Aside 10 Default. Indeed, the most telling fact that McKinney considered the two entities to 11 be singular comes from his own pleadings caption and motions for entry of default
12 stating: “Apollo Group, Inc., University of Phoenix, a corporation” and “Apollo 13 Group, Inc. a.k.a. University of Phoenix.” [Complaint for Damages, Caption; 14 Plaintiff’s Motion for Clerk’s Entry of Default Against Apollo, 2:4-6; MPA In 15 Support of Entry of Default Against Apollo, 2:4-6.]

16 Even if the Court accepts McKinney's new found recollection and allows 17 him to improperly add a party to this complaint, McKinney's Complaint against 18 UOP falls victim to the very same errors that plagued his Complaint against Apollo, 19 and should therefore be dismissed for the very same reasons.

20 First, McKinney failed to properly serve UOP in accordance with Rule 4 of 21 the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure (“FRCP”) because McKinney did not deliver a 22 copy of the summons and complaint to an officer, managing agent, general manager 23 or an authorized agent for service of process. Although some procedural rules may 24 be relaxed for pro se litigants, all plaintiffs must follow the rules for service of the 25 complaint. See Graham v. United States, 79 Fed. Appx. 992, 994, No. 03-15240, 26 2003 WL 22514528, at *1 (9th Cir. June 2, 2003). This procedural step is 27 important not only to ensure due process, but also for jurisdictional reasons, 28 because absent proper service, a court lacks jurisdiction over the defendant.

1 Accordingly, the Complaint should also be dismissed because the Court lacks
2 personal jurisdiction over UOP.

3 Finally, McKinney's Complaint should be dismissed for failure to state a 4 claim upon which relief can be granted. The caption of McKinney's Complaint
5 states that it is "for violation of Federal False Claims Act and for violation of the 6 Civil Rights Act 1964 and the amendments to Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 7 1991-Retliation-Wrongful Termination & Employment Discrimination Civil 8 Action" and lists seven causes of action:

- 9 1. Retaliation pursuant to the False Claims Act § 3729;
- 10 2. Retaliation under Title VII;
- 11 3. Wrongful Termination;
- 12 4. False Imprisonment;
- 13 5. Intentional Infliction of Emotional Distress;
- 14 6. Defamation; and
- 15 7. Equal Pay.

16 The Complaint, however, contains no comprehensible recitation of facts or 17 the basis for any of McKinney's purported claims, nor does it give UOP fair notice
18 of its purported acts or omissions, what actions are attributed to what defendants,
19 how UOP's conduct damaged McKinney, or even what damage McKinney 20 suffered.

21 Accordingly, UOP brings this motion to dismiss McKinney's Complaint or 22 to quash service of summons pursuant to FRCP Rule 12(b)(5) because the 23 Complaint was improperly served. UOP also brings this motion to dismiss 24 pursuant to FRCP Rule 12(b)(2) because the Court lacks personal jurisdiction over 25 UOP as a result of McKinney's insufficient service. Additionally, UOP brings this 26 motion pursuant to Rule 12(b)(6) because the Complaint fails to state a claim upon 27 which relief may be granted and fails to comply with FRCP Rule 8. In the 28 alternative, if the Court declines to dismiss the Complaint for failure to state a claim

1 and either finds that service was proper or quashes service and requires McKinney
2 to re-serve an amended Complaint, UOP requests that the Court order McKinney to 3 file a more definite statement pursuant to FRCP Rule 12(e).

II.

6

THE COURT LACKS JURISDICTION OVER UOP BECAUSE MCKINNEY'S SERVICE WAS DEFECTIVE (FRCP 12(B)(2); 12(B)(5)).

7

8 FRCP Rule 4 provides in pertinent part:

Unless otherwise provided by federal law, service upon a domestic or foreign corporation or upon a partnership or other unincorporated association that is subject to suit under a common name, and from which a waiver of service has not been obtained and filed, shall be effected:

12

(1) In a judicial district of the United States in the manner prescribed for individuals by subdivision (e)(1), or by delivering a copy of the summons and of the complaint to an officer, a managing or general agent, or to any other agent authorized by appointment or by law to receive service of process and, if the agent is one authorized by statute to receive service and the statute so requires, by also mailing a copy to the defendant....

17

Belle v. Chase Home Finance, LLC, No. 06CV2454 WQH (LSP), 2007 WL 3232505, at *8 (S.D. Cal. May 22, 2007). To that end, California state law allows for service upon a corporation by delivering a copy of the summons and complaint:

20

(a) To the person designated as agent for service of process...;

22

23

(b) To the president or other head of the corporation, a vice president, a secretary or assistant secretary, a treasurer or assistant treasurer, a general manager, or a person authorized by the corporation to receive service of process.

26

Cal. Civ. Proc. Code § 416.10.

27

Thus, under both federal and state law, service of summons upon a corporation is only proper if delivered to an officer, general manager or designated

1 agent for service of process. See id.; FRCP Rule 4(h)(1). When a defendant
2 challenges service of process, a plaintiff bears the burden of showing that service is 3 valid under Rule 4. Brockmeyer v. May, 383 F.3d 798, 800 (9th Cir. 2004); Belle,
4 supra, citing Hirsh v. Blue Cross, Blue Shield, 800 F.2d 1474, 1477 (9th Cir. 1986).

5 Moreover, if a plaintiff fails to serve a defendant in accordance with Rule 4, 6 the court lacks jurisdiction over that defendant. Jackson v. Hayakawa, 682 F.2d
7 1344, 1347 (9th Cir. 1982).

8 McKinney failed to comply with the requirements of FRCP Rule 4(h) and 9 California law because he did not serve the summons and complaint on an officer,
10 general manager or designated agent for service of process for UOP. Indeed, 11 McKinney failed to even direct the summons and Complaint to any individual at all 12 as required by FRCP Rule 4(a). Instead, McKinney simply dropped off an 13 envelope to UOP employee, Ellen Bowens, and expected this to constitute 14 sufficient service of process upon UOP. This is unacceptable under California law
15 and the Federal Rules.

16 While procedural rules may be relaxed for pro se litigants, even a pro se 17 plaintiff must comply with the rules for service of process. See Graham v. United 18 States, 79 Fed. Appx. 992, 994, No. 03-15240, 2003 WL 22514528, at *1 (9th Cir.
19 June 2, 2003) citing Hamilton v. Endell, 981 F. 2d 1062, 1065 (9th Cir. 1992)
20 (abrogated on other grounds by Estate of Ford v. Ramierez-Palmer, 301 F.3d 1043, 21 1045 (9th Cir. 2002)).

22 Additionally, because McKinney did not properly serve UOP, the Court lacks 23 personal jurisdiction over it, and the Complaint should be dismissed pursuant to 24 FRCP Rules 12(b)(2) and 12(b)(5) for this reason.

25

III.

THE COURT SHOULD DISMISS THE COMPLAINT BECAUSE IT FAILS TO PROVIDE A BASIS UPON WHICH RELIEF CAN BE GRANTED.

A. The Court May Dismiss Patently Defective Complaints.

A motion to dismiss for failure to state a claim tests the legal sufficiency of the complaint. The Court may dismiss a complaint as a matter of law either for lack of a cognizable theory or the absence of sufficient facts alleged under a cognizable legal theory. Roberston v. Dean Witter Reynolds, Inc., 749 F.2d 530, 534 (9th Cir. 1984). Thus, the Court should dismiss a claim if “it appears beyond doubt that the plaintiff can prove no set of facts in support of his claim which would entitle him to relief.” Conley v. Gibson, 355 U.S. 41, 45-46 (1957). In making this determination, the Court must accept as true all material allegations in the complaint and draw all reasonable inferences in the plaintiff’s favor. Usher v. City of Los Angeles, 828 F.2d 556, 561 (9th Cir. 1987). While allegations of material fact are taken as true, however, a plaintiff may not rely on conclusory allegations and unwarranted inferences to defeat dismissal. See e.g., In re Syntex Corp. Sec’s Litig., 95 F.3d 922, 926 (9th Cir. 1996); Holden v. Hagoplan, 978 F.2d 1115, 1121 (9th Cir. 1992). Also, the Court does not “assume the truth of legal conclusions merely because they are cast in the form of factual allegations.” Western Min. Council v. Watt, 643 F.2d 618, 624 (9th Cir. 1981).

As explained more fully below, this Court should dismiss McKinney's Complaint because it fails to state a claim upon which relief may be granted.

B. McKinney's Purported Claim Under the False Claims Act (31 U.S.C. § 3729) Provides No Basis Upon Which Relief Can Be Granted.

The Complaint also fails to distinguish among – or even clearly set out – the various claims being alleged. For example, the Complaint mentions an action for retaliation arising under the False Claims Act, 31 U.S.C. § 3729 (“FCA”) in

1 McKinney's "Statement of the Case" and "Legal Claims," but no supporting facts
2 even mentioning the FCA can be found in his "Statement of Facts." [Complaint,
3 2:9-11; 16:8-19.] In fact, McKinney's reference the FCA contains the following
4 mystifying statements:

5 In 1986, Congress added provisions in 31 U.S.C Sec.
6 3730(h): 'Any employee who is discharged, demoted,
7 suspended, threatened, harassed, or in any other manner 8 discriminated against in the terms and conditions of employment by his or her employer because of lawful acts done by the employee on behalf of his employer or 9 others in furtherance of an action under this section, 10 including investigation for, initiation of, testimony for, or assistance in an action filed or to be filed under this section, shall be entitled to all relief necessary to make the employee whole.'

11 [Id., (emphasis added).]

12 McKinney does not reference anything he did "in furtherance of action under 13 this section." In fact, McKinney does not provide any supporting facts at all for 14 this claim, but rather repeats a statute that does not apply to him under any 15 circumstances. The FCA addresses the situation that if a person attempts to defraud 16 the government to obtain payment/property then he/she will be liable:

17 to the United States Government for a civil penalty of not 18 less than $5,000 and not more than $10,000, plus 3 times
19 the amount of damages which the Government sustains because of the act of that person [...].

20 31 U.S.C. 3729(a). For an "action" to exist, however, it may only be brought by the 21 Attorney General or by a private person in the name of the United States
22 Government. 31 U.S.C. §§ 3730(a), (b). Moreover, there are special requirements 23 for a private person to bring an action under the FCA that McKinney never did. In 24 pertinent part:

25 (b) Actions by Private Persons.—

26 (1) A person may bring a civil action for a violation of 27 section 3729 for the person and for the United States 28 Government. The action shall be brought in the name of the Government. The action may be dismissed only if the court and the Attorney General give written consent to the dismissal and their reasons for consenting.

(2) A copy of the complaint and written disclosure of substantially all material evidence and information the person possesses shall be served on the Government pursuant to Rule 4(d)(4) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. The complaint shall be filed in camera, shall remain under seal for at least 60 days, and shall not be served on the defendant until the court so orders. The Government may elect to intervene and proceed with the action within 60 days after it receives both the complaint and the material evidence and information.

31 U.S.C. § 3730(b).

Furthermore, the FCA bars the following actions:

(e) Certain Actions Barred.—

(3) In no event may a person bring an action under subsection (b) which is based upon allegations or transactions which are the subject of a civil suit or an administrative civil money penalty proceeding in which the Government is already a party.

(A) No court shall have jurisdiction over an action under this section based upon the public disclosure of allegations or transactions in a criminal, civil, or administrative hearing, in a congressional, administrative, or Government Accounting Office report, hearing, audit, or investigation, or from the news media, unless the action is brought by the Attorney General or the person bringing the action is an original source of the information.

(B) For purposes of this paragraph, "original source" means an individual who has direct and independent knowledge of the information on which the allegations are based and has voluntarily provided the information to the Government before filing an action under this section which is based on the information.

31 U.S.C. § 3730(e).

McKinney has not provided any facts indicating that he has performed lawful acts in furtherance of an existing “action” under the FCA. Furthermore, McKinney has not provided any facts that demonstrate that an “action” brought by either the Attorney General or in the name of the United States Government even exists.

1     Indeed, it appears that McKinney's claim under the FCA may be barred since he 2     has not asserted that he is an "original source" of information provided to the 3     United States Government as is required under 31 U.S.C. section 3730(e)(4).

4           Accordingly, McKinney has not properly alleged an action under the FCA
5     upon which relief can be granted.

6

7     C.    McKinney's Purported Claim Under Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 8           1964 and amendments to Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1991 (42 9           U.S.C. § 2000e) Provides No Basis Upon Which Relief Can Be Granted.

10           McKinney's Complaint similarly fails to state a claim for violation of 11     Title VII of Civil Rights Act, as amended ("Title VII"). McKinney asserts that he 12     suffered "discriminatory behavior" and was retaliated against in violation of Title
13     VII. [Complaint, 2:19-21; 16:20-24.] As with McKinney's claim under the FCA, 14     the only two references to Title VII are found in the "Statement of the Case" and 15     "Legal Claims" and no supporting facts are found in his "Statement of Facts". [Id.]
16     In fact, it cannot be determined from McKinney's unintelligible Complaint whether 17     he is alleging disparate treatment, retaliation or both.<sup>1</sup>

18           Title VII makes it unlawful for covered employers to hire or discharge any 19     individual, or otherwise discriminate against any individual based on race, color, 20     religion, sex or national origin ("protected class"). 42 U.S.C. § 2000e et seq. Yet, 21     McKinney does not allege that he belongs to a class protected under Title VII. To 22     succeed on a retaliation claim, McKinney must have supporting facts to allege:
23     (1) he engaged in some protected conduct (protected by Title VII); (2) he suffered
24     an adverse employment action; and (3) the adverse employment action was taken
25     against him because of the protected activity. Trent v. Valley Elect. Assoc., 41 F.3d 26     524, 526 (9th Cir. 1994). McKinney does not aver any supporting facts that

27           <sup>1</sup> It will be assumed that McKinney's Title VII claim is limited to retaliation since this is what he 28     reported to the EEOC. [Declaration of Nathan W. Hicks In Support of Motion to Dismiss Plaintiff's Complaint, Ex. A.]

1 support his allegations of retaliation in violation of Title VII.

2 To establish a prima facie case of discriminatory treatment,<sup>2</sup> McKinney must 3 show supporting facts that: (1) he is a member of a protected class; (2) he was 4 capable of performing his job; and (3) he was treated differently because of his 5 protected class status. Pejic v. Hughs Helicopters, Inc., 840 F.2d 667, 672 (9th Cir.
6 1988). McKinney has alleged no facts in support of his claim of discrimination in 7 violation of Title VII.

8 Additionally, for McKinney to have claims that UOP retaliated or 9 discriminated against him, he must show that UOP was his employer since “[t]he 10 liability schemes under Title VII...limit civil liability to the employer.” Miller v.
11 Maxwell's International, Inc., 991 F.2d 583, 587 (9th Cir. 1993). McKinney has 12 failed to do this. Furthermore, and regarding liability under Title VII for the 13 individually named defendants, McKinney cannot assert facts to support a claim 14 against them since individual defendants cannot be held liable for damages under 15 Title VII. Id. citing to Padway v. Palches, 665 F.2d 965, 968 (9th Cir. 1982).

16 Accordingly, McKinney has not properly alleged an action under Title VII
17 upon which relief can be granted.

18

19 D. McKinney's Other Purported Claims Provide No Basis Upon Which 20 Relief Can Be Granted.

21 Although the Complaint lists seven causes of action<sup>3</sup> under the section 22 entitled “Legal Claims,” the remainder of the Complaint appears to consist of 23 protracted “cut and paste” language<sup>4</sup> that is internally inconsistent, ambiguous and 24 fails to provide any support for the purported claims listed in the caption. Instead,

25

26 <sup>2</sup> As stated above, if McKinney is alleging discrimination, then he has not exhausted the required 27 administrative remedies in order to properly plead this issue.

28 <sup>3</sup> None of McKinney's causes of action distinguish what actions are purportedly attributable to what defendant.

1 McKinney simply lists five other causes of action with no factual support or legal 2 basis.<sup>5</sup>

3 To the extent McKinney is asserting these or any other claims against UOP
 4 (which is, itself, unclear from the wording of the Complaint), McKinney has failed
 5 to describe these claims with any specificity or to set forth the required elements of 6 those claims. Accordingly, UOP is unable to determine which claims are being 7 alleged against it, and McKinney failed to state any claim upon which relief can be 8 granted.

9

10 IV.

11 THE COURT SHOULD DISMISS THE COMPLAINT
 12 BECAUSE IT FAILS TO COMPLY WITH FRCP RULE 8.

13 FRCP Rule 8 requires a plaintiff to set forth “a short and plain statement of 14 the claim showing that the [plaintiff] is entitled to relief.” FRCP Rule 8(a)(2).
 15 Similarly, each claim must be “simple, concise, and direct.” FRCP Rule 8(e)(2).
 16 These rules are designed to ensure that a complaint gives fair notice to defendants 17 and states the elements of the claim plainly and succinctly. Jones v. Cmtv.
 18 Redevelopment Agency of the City of Los Angeles, 733 F.2d 646, 649 (9th Cir.
 19 1984).

20 When the complaint is written by a pro se litigant, these rules are relaxed and 21 the complaint is held to a less stringent standard. Eldridge v. Block, 832 F.2d 1132, 22 1136 (9th Cir. 1987). Nevertheless, if a complaint contains nothing more than 23 conclusory allegations, unsupported by any facts, it fails to state a claim under 24 Rule 8. Sherman v. Yakahi, 549 F.2d 1287, 1290 (9th Cir. 1977); see also, 25 Barsella v. United States, 135 F.R.D 64, 66 (S.D.N.Y 1991) (policy requiring

26
 27 <sup>5</sup> McKinney simply lists: wrongful termination, false imprisonment, intentional infliction of 28 emotional distress, defamation and equal pay under the remaining causes of action without any reference to a legal basis or how these causes of action apply to him.

1 courts to liberally construe pro se complaints “does not mandate that a court system
2 sustain every pro se complaint even if it is incoherent, rambling, and unreadable”).
3 Here, McKinney’s complaint is incoherent, rambling, unreadable and fails to 4 comply with Rule 8.

5 The Complaint fails to distinguish among – or even clearly set out – the 6 various claims being alleged.<sup>6</sup> And, despite containing a heading entitled 7 “Statement of Facts,” the body of the Complaint is prolix, confusing, and in many 8 areas – meaningless. Further, it is not clear what relief McKinney seeks or how the 9 allegations support the relief sought. The Complaint is simply a recitation of 10 disconnected ideas wrapped with conclusory allegations seeking some sort of 11 unintelligible relief. The Complaint, therefore, fails to comply with Rule 8 and 12 should be dismissed under FRCP Rule 12(b)(6) for failure to state a claim upon 13 which relief can be granted.

THE COURT SHOULD DISMISS

MCKINNEY'S COMPLAINT WITH PREJUDICE.

18        The factors a court may consider in determining whether to dismiss a 19        complaint with prejudice under FRCP Rule 41(b) include: (1) the plaintiff's status
20        as a pro se litigant; (2) the burden on the defendants and their right to be free from 21        costly and harassing litigation; (3) the burden confusing and prolix complaints
22        place on the court system; (4) the strength of plaintiff's case; and, (5) the feasibility 23        of less drastic alternatives, such as allowing further amendment. See, e.g., 24        McHenry v. Renne, 84 F.3d 1172, 1179-1180 (9th Cir. 1996); Nevijel v. North
25        Coast Life Ins. Co., 651 F.2d 671, 674-675 (9th Cir. 1981); Von Poppenheim v.
26        Portland Boxing and Wrestling Commission, 442 F.2d 1047, 1053 (9th Cir. 1971),

1 cert. denied, 404 U.S. 1039 (1972). Under the circumstances of this dispute, these 2 factors heavily favor dismissal with prejudice.

3 McKinney has filed a protracted, rambling, incomprehensible Complaint that 4 utterly fails to allege any facts to support any of his claims, and that is not even 5 clear as to which claims are being asserted, and against which Defendants.

6 McKinney cannot assert anything in an amended pleading that will give merit to his 7 baseless claims. As such, the Court should dismiss McKinney's Complaint with 8 prejudice pursuant to FRCP Rule 41(b).

9

VI.

11

ALTERNATIVELY, THE COURT SHOULD REQUIRE MCKINNEY TO FILE A MORE DEFINITE STATEMENT UNDER FRCP RULE 12(E).

13

14 If the Court declines to dismiss the Complaint, and either quashes service and 15 requires McKinney to re-serve the Complaint or finds that service of process was 16 sufficient under the FRCP and that the Court has jurisdiction over UOP, the Court should require McKinney to file a more definite statement.

17

18 FRCP Rule 12(e) protects defendants from having to guess at the meaning of complaints like the one brought by McKinney:

19

20 If a pleading to which a responsive pleading is permitted 21 is so vague or ambiguous that a party cannot reasonably be required to frame a responsive pleading, the party may move for a more definite statement before interposing a responsive pleading.

22

FRCP Rule 12(e).

23

24 A complaint may state a claim for relief, but may still be so vague and ambigous as to require a plaintiff to provide a more definite statement. See 25 Cellars v. Pacific Coast Packaging, Inc., 189 F.R.D. 575, 578 (N.D. Cal. 1981);
26 Famolare, Inc. v. Edison Bros. Stores, Inc., 525 F. Supp. 940, 949 (E.D. Cal. 1981).
27 When claims, such as those made by McKinney are so indefinite that the defendant 28 cannot ascertain the nature of the claim being asserted, a defendant cannot

1 reasonably be expected to frame a proper response. Id.

2 A motion for a more definite statement is appropriate where allegations do
3 not comply with the pleading requirements identified in FRCP Rule 8. 2 James 4 Wm. Moore, et al., Moore's Federal Practice, 12.36[1] (3d ed. 2000). Under 5 Rule 8, a pleading must give "fair notice on the grounds for the various claims" and 6 "requires more than empty boilerplate." Gen-Probe, Inc. v. Amoco Corp., 926 F.
7 Supp. 948, 961 (S.D. Cal. 1988); see also Conley v. Gibson, 355 U.S. 41, 47
8 (1957). Therefore, if a pleading is not "clear enough to provide the defendant with 9 a sufficient basis to frame a responsive pleading" a more definite statement is 10 appropriate. Sec. Dynamics Techs., Inc. v. Active Card Networks, Inc., No. 95-
11 20870SW, 1996 WL 263648, at *1 (N.D. Cal. May 13, 1996).

12 Here, for the reasons set forth above, McKinney's Complaint is so
13 ambiguous and unintelligible that UOP cannot reasonably be required to frame a 14 responsive pleading. Therefore, if the Court does not grant UOP's Rule 12(b)(6) 15 motion, the Court should order McKinney to file a more definite statement.

16 17 VII.

18 MCKINNEY DID NOT PROPERLY AMEND HIS PLEADINGS TO ADD 19 UOP AS A PARTY TO THIS ACTION.

20 To add a new party to the action, the pleadings must be amended in 21 accordance with FRCP Rule 15 procedures. Nelson v. Adams USA, Inc. (2000) 529
22 U.S. 460. In essence, FRCP Rule 15 requires proper notice when a party is added
23 so that the defendant is given an opportunity to respond and raise defenses. Id.

24 Here, it is plain that McKinney's Complaint lists a singular party described 25 as "Apollo Group, Inc., University of Phoenix, a corporation." [Complaint for 26 Damages, Caption.]<sup>7</sup> After Apollo filed its Motions to Dismiss and to Set Aside

27 <sup>7</sup> McKinney also supports this premise in his motions for entry of default by stating:
28 "Apollo Group, Inc. a.k.a. University of Phoenix." [Plaintiff's Motion for Clerk's Entry of Default Against Apollo, 2:4-6; MPA For Entry of Default Against Apollo, 2:4-6.]

1 Entry of Default pointing out that UOP and Apollo are separate entities, McKinney
2 agreed and now wants the Court to add UOP as a separate party so that he may 3 obtain default against both corporations in the amount of $250,000. However,
4 McKinney never amended his pleadings to add UOP as a separate party to his 5 Complaint as is required by FRCP Rule 15. Accordingly, the Court should dismiss
6 the Complaint against UOP since it was never properly amended to add UOP as a 7 party in this matter.

VIII.

10

CONCLUSION

11

For the reasons stated above, UOP respectfully requests that the Court 12 dismiss McKinney's Complaint with prejudice. In the alternative, if the Court finds 13 service of process met the requirements of the Federal Rules, and the Court declines
14 to dismiss the Complaint, UOP respectfully requests that the Court require 15 McKinney to file a more definite statement.

Defendants

DECLARATION OF R.T. HANSELL IN SUPPORT OF PLAINTIFF'S MOTION FOR DEFAULT JUDGMENT

I, Bob Hansell, declare as follows:

1. I am over the age of 18. I am currently employed as a County Process Server at San Diego Service of Process, LLC in the city of San Diego. On January 31, 2008, I was, and currently am, bonded and registered in and for the County of San Diego.

2. On the 31st of January, 2008, according to Federal Rules of Civil Procedure 4(e)(1) I properly served Apollo Group, Inc., and the University of Phoenix.

3. At the time of service, Ellen Bowens declared herself to be an Administrator and the only person available. Ellen Bowens, who is actually an Operations Manager for the University of Phoenix, a wholly owned subsidiary of Apollo Group, Inc. refused to cooperate and produce the defendant employees for personal service, or any other person to accept for the defendant companies. Substitute service was then effected.

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that the foregoing is true and correct.
